Georgia Women Flyfishers host Casting for Confidence

On Saturday October 10, 2015 Georgia Women Flyfishers (GWFF) will host 12 breast cancer survivors on the banks of the Chestatee River in Dahlonega, Georgia. This is donated time on private waters donated by Frog Hollow.

The goals for the Casting for Confidence (CFC) event are to provide a safe, and reflective environment for participants to discuss their disease with other women with shared experiences, thereby providing support and information to aide in their journey of recovery. They will provide expert fly-fishing instruction that enables the participants to learn a new skill, form a healing connection with nature, and participate in a sport they can continue throughout their recovery and lifetime.

Fly fishing is a physical gentle rhythmic motion of fly casting that is similar to exercises often prescribed after surgery or radiation to promote soft tissue stretching. CFC provides a new outlet - fly fishing- as a reprieve from the everyday stressors and challenges of their cancer.

There is no cost to the participants. GWFF provides all the required equipment. There will also be a great BBQ lunch donated by North Georgia Trout Online. This event is similar to national events called Casting for Recovery. Just last month NBC Nightly news did a brief news article on the program. A link is attached here to that broadcast. In the 2+ minute video the success of the event is evident in the interviews with the ladies at the event.

GWFF has fund raising events throughout the year to host this program. Like Trout Camp, more applications are received than can be accommodated. We all need to recognize the need and success of this program to help insure it's continued availability for breast cancer survivors.

There is a link here from last year's event here in Georgia by the GWFF. Enjoy the video and watch all the smiling faces from the women who forgot for a while their challenges ahead.

For more information contact Carolyn Emery at 404-414-3796 or email evemery@aol.com To submit an application click here. Deadline for applications is September 21, 2015. If you know a breast cancer survivor please forward this information.

Dark Thirty Fishing in the Ellicott's Rock Wilderness Area

From: Pat Hopton

Every year at the Rabun Rendezvous I donate a fishing trip to fish "Dark Thirty" in the upper backcountry of the Chattooga River as a silent auction item. What is "dark thirty" fishing? CLICK HERE to find out more!

For the 2015 Rabun Rendezvous the high bidder was Jason Long. Jason is the current Chapter President of the Mountain Bridges Chapter of Trout Unlimited, located in Greenville, SC. Jason is also an engineer with General Electric in Greenville, and I would soon learn he is also an accomplished fly fisherman and an around great guy.

Jason and I emailed each other setting up a date for the trip. I also sent Jason information on the Chattooga River, the Ellicott's Rock Wilderness Area, and the all-important green drake hatch. On May 20, I met Jason and a friend at the Burrells Ford Bridge on the Chattooga River. As part of the trip I gave Jason a box of a dozen flies, including both green drake and coffin fly patterns, and drinks and sandwiches to eat at streamside.

While we got our gear together Jason talked about his many fishing trips where he caught numerous large fish. I was beginning to get worried that he had too high of expectations for this trip; I told Jason that we would be fishing for wild, stream-bred brown trout and the average size would be 10-12", with anything bigger than 14" a real trophy.

We made the hike up the trail, to the Lower Island just upstream from the junction of Bad Creek, in about 45 minutes. As we rigged our rods we decided to split up: Jason would fish up the GA side of the Lower Island and catch up with the rest of us at the Too Good A Pool. My hope was to finish the evening by fishing dark thirty at the Green Drake Pool.

I left Jason and his friend and hiked upstream a short distance and started fishing. I found the catching to be slow: I caught several small wild browns, all around 8-10" long. At dark thirty I was at the Too Good A Pool and still had not seen Jason. So I fished that pool until 9:00 pm but only saw one coffin fly. I'm not sure if we were early or late for the green drake hatch, but it just didn't happen for me that evening.

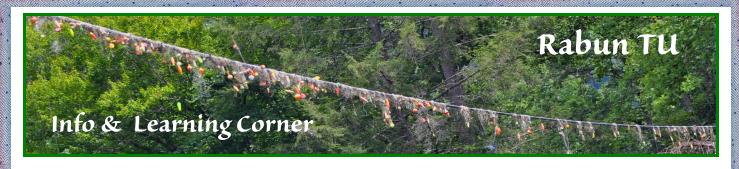

I started back down the trail in the dark, expecting Jason to also have had a slow evening of catching like me. But when I caught up with him, he was full of excitement! He had caught a beautiful, wild 16" brown trout on a green drake pattern! He had spent the entire evening fishing just the length of the Lower Island. If you've been there, you know what a great stretch of river the GA side of the island can be. After the walk out in the dark, we celebrated with cold beer and cigars at the truck.

I really enjoyed fishing with Jason and his friend. I will offer dark thirty fishing on the Chattooga River as a silent auction item at the next Rendezvous, so be sure to bid on it if you too want to have this experience!

Notes from the President

DILEMMA

As we have all read in the paper, and heard through the grapevine, the Scout Hut has been condemned and we are again in search of a home- a place that the Rabun Chapter of Trout Unlimited can call its own. The Scouts have found a home at the American Legion building in Mountain City, and they will continue to meet on their scheduled Tuesday nights. Thursday is the Legion's night for cooking. So, where does that leave us? It means that we must find a new home.

In this respect, EVERYONE needs to put their "Sherlock Holmes" to work to think of a place where we can meet regularly, that has both heating and air, that can accommodate our need for storage, and do it quickly, as we are out in the proverbial cold now. The Board of Directors is open to any and all suggestions. And, we are even considering changing our meeting nights for both Chapter and Board back to Tuesday.

I know this is "west of the Hiawassee" time, and I also know that Rendezvous Chairman Ray King is gearing up to begin our solicitations for this coming Rendezvous, but WE NEED A HOME! Please contact either Vice President Kent Wilson or me with your ideas. And, if there is a really generous soul in the group, maybe we could even consider purchasing a meeting place. We can dream, can't we?!!!!!!!!!! Anyway, this affects us all, so put on your thinking caps, and don't let any idea go un-researched.

Thank you.
